

JAPAN MEDICAL WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION(JMWA)

Founded in 1902

"The history of JMWA is the history of female doctors in Japan."

A healthy working condition for female doctors is essential for the future of healthcare in Japan.

We aim to assist the current and future Japanese female doctors achieve their full potential by supporting every aspect of their life as mentors.

JMWA is and will be supporting female medical students and young doctors!

1885 Dr. Ginko Ogino First female medical doctor to be licensed in Japan

1900 Dr. Yayoi Yoshioka Founded the Tokyo Women's Medical College

1902 Japan Medical Women's Association founded

1919 Medical Women's International Association founded

Participation of JMWA

2002 100th Year Anniversary of JMWA

100th Year Anniversary of JMWA
Her Majesty the Empress Michiko

MWIA founded

Dr. Yayoi Yoshioka

Dr. Ginko Ogino

Aims

- To promote health programs and gender equality
- To ensure work-life balance for women
- To dedicate for local healthcare, activities for promoting public health
- To promote international relations

Projects

- Presentation of Dr. Ginko Ogino Award to those who contribute to improve the status of female doctors in society
- Presentation of Dr. Yayoi Yoshioka Award to those who contribute to medical education and society
- Support academic research and young researchers
- Improve child-rearing environment for working women

Activities of Medical Women's International Association (MWIA)

The 10th Medical Women's International Association

Western Pacific Regional Congress

26-29th May 2011, Tokyo, Japan

The 10th
Medical Women's International Association
Western Pacific Regional Congress

Contacts <http://www.jmwa.or.jp/> e-mail: office@jmwa.or.jp